Strange, indeed, if the friends of the South should be anxious to help her to leave the Government to which they belonged The charge is absurd and ridiculous. Vallandigham is charged with desiring a dissolution of the Union. What for? What could he gain by it? If he is ambitious, he has everything to lose. He denies all sympathy with the object of the rebellion; and, indeed, it is against every personal interest he has. His political opponents are only reconciled to the war for the Union if it will abolish slavery and bring the South under their dominion. In that way they hope to reach a cherished party object. They believe such means will defeat the end -a restoration of the Union. They believe that confiscation bills, proclamations and the disloyal practices, and use arbitrary power to punish such practices. A man who denounces hese means to restore the Union, or, as they more properly style it, to put down the rebellion, is disloyal. Who invested them with an infallible judgment on such subjects? King George and Lord North employed these means to put down a rebellion. The opposition told them these means would not do. Were the opposition disloyal? They were charged with disloyalty, with sympathy with rebels. All rebellions are alike. There is some provocation, real or imaginary. After they start different motives operate; the original ones being often lost eight of. The Southern rebels knew that if motives to support their cause were wanting, war would soon make them.

Government. In the last hundred years England has pre vented half a dozen revolutions by concessions. The people there have learned that if they desire a reform they have only to pursue it with determination, and they know when the last bell riegs the Government will relent and concede.

In dealing with rebellions wise Governments have learned to remove the provocation; to conciliate, whilst power is used to sustain the

Now, it is just this wise policy of concession which alone sustains free Governments that Democrats want. The first step they insist on is that reasons to rebel should be removed. The Republicans pursue precisely the opposite course. They would allay no apprehensions at the first. They supply provocations to rebel that did not exist. Lest the South relent, they pass confiscation bills, and make it an object to free all the negroes. Then, to increase the provocation, they arm negroes; they make an alliance with negroes of the South against white people.

Is it wonderful that Democrats denounce such means as suicidal and ruinous? They are disloyal because they denounce this egregious folly and wrong. They do not oppose means to put down the rebellion, but means to build it up and protract it, and render it chronic and perpetual. They want to bring the South back, not drive her away forever They are interested in the Union. They have no other interest, and can have no other. [Correspondence of the Louisville Democrat.] SHELBYVILLE, KY., Sept. 17, 1863. Messrs. Editors: The Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church South commenced its annual session in this place yesterday morning, Bishop Kavanaugh presiding. After religious services the Bishop made the following remarks to the Conference:

BISHOP KAVANAUGH'S REMARKS

"It is with no ordinary emotions that meet you on this occasion. You are cultiva-ting the ground to which I have devoted my life. Forty years ago I became a member of life. Forty years ago I became a member of your Conference. The most of my co-laborers in the early part of my history have gone to their rest. I am in feeble health, but l to their rest. I am in feeble health, but rejoice that I meet you again, and trust the we have come together in the spirit of we have come together in the spirit of the gospel of peace. O, what an interest
I feel in the work committed to our care.
We belong to a kingdom not of this world. Our King is in heaven and will come again to visit His church and receive to Himself all who serve Him in the beauty of holiness. God helps us to serve Him in faith and purity of heart. We should enter now and purity of heart. We should enter upo our duties and labors as the representative of Christ and ministers of His church. Le us attend to our own proper work. Let us not allow ourselves to travel out of plain duty. Our responsibilities are to God. Our duty is to consider the interests of our Zion.

"The counsels of state do not devolve on us.
We have not to appoint committees on state affairs which belong to the state.
"How strangely would you be impressed if you found a Legislature or the Congress of the United States appointing committees upon interests which belong to you as a Conference! You would conclude that they had gone aside from their duty, and were trespassing upon us. Let us not interfere with the duties of Congress or state. It is our luty so to demean ourselves as never to throw in obstacle in our way before the people. We belong to the people, and when we consider the duties of the country, let us do it as citiens, and not as Ministers, nor as an Ecclesiascal Assembly.
"We have the duties of the church to attend

By love He rivels the angels to His throne, and binds every seraph to Himself by the principle of love. He sheds this abroad in the hearts of His disciples, and would have it perfected in the hearts of His ministers and His people. The Minister of the Gospel of Christ should be inspired with this principle of love to qualify him for the work he has to perform. It was a remark of that great and good man, Valentine Cook, that he never could succeed and do good till he learned to love his congrenation. True love for mankind fills and fires world's salvation. If you love the lest sheep you will go in search of them. If you love the last sheep you will go in search of them. If you love the lambs of the flock you will have them in the bosom of your love. Since the St. Louis Democrat has, of late, been particularly severe upon the military additionally severe upon the military additionally in Missouri, we give the order which the Democrat pretends to approve:

Cords of love."

After the Bishop's remarks the Conference proceeded to elect a Secretary. T. F. Vanmeter and D. Stevenson were nominated. The former declined and the latter was elected. During the session of the day the Conference was chiefly engaged in the appointment of the character of the younger ministers. Nothing of special interest to the reader transpired. Only about fifty ministers were present. All Only about fifty ministers were present. All are apparently in good health, and only one has dicd during the year—Rev. J. M. Johnson.

THE EQUIRMING OF THE RADICALS .- Since tween the Democrats and their opponents in the North. The Democrats are for the Union and naval forces of the United States, and to force abolitionism in Missouri that was exempted in his proclamation, the radical inendiaries are in a tight place. Hear the ravings of that Abolition sheet, the St. Louis come a very common remark in the mouths of Union men, that the most favored parties the world, we are told by intelligent mer who have traveled through Missouri, to tell rebels from Union men when met upon the A traveler has furnished us the fol lowing tests: "The horse ridden by the stranger furnishes the evidence. If the ani-mal is fat, sleek and healthy, he is the property of a rebel. If he is poor, weak and serag gy, you may be sure his owner is a Union men. The countenance of the rider likewise unsteady gaze—if his countenance shows signs of watching and care, and every bush is closeby watching and care, and every bush is closely scrutinized as he passes it, you may depend upon it you are gazing upon a Union man."

We have no reason to doubt that the foregoing tests are in the majority of cases reliable. It is in the nature of things, under the able. It is in the nature of things, under the administration which prevails in this State, that they should be so. The rebel 1, favored in as many ways as the Ution man is oppressed. Rebeis are never bushwhacked It is a remarkable fact, that in nearly could be reduced in which I would for a single moment entertain any proposition for any union with the North on any terms whatewire. When all else is lost, I prefer to unite with the thousands of our own countrymen who have found honorable deaths, if not in graves, on the battle-field. Use this letter as you please. The rebel can raise fine fields of wheat and corn and tobacco, because he is allowed to stay at home in peace, and his niggers are protected by the State. The Union man can depend upon raising neither the one nor the other, because Governor Gamble having succonducting prosecutions. There is a society for the punishment of shoplifters, another for the protection of women and children, a third for the protection of the precious metals a disloyal menalike. The State makes the Union man guard the secessionist's property but does not or cannot prevent the secessionist from taking the Union man's property. And when the Union man comes to be paid for services as a soldier, he finds that he has prin-cipally to foot his own bill. All of his property is taxed, while the negroes of the slave-holders, nine-tenths of whom are disloyal, by the grace of the late State Convention are ex-

And if a Federal commander gets into a passion, and proposes to assess the property of rebels to make up for the losses of Union men, Governor Gamble posts off to Washington, or writes to Secretary Bites, and has the President rescind the order.

It is not to be supposed, however, that for all these privileges the disloyalists of Missouri pay no penalty. No, indeed! They have to swear—swear to support the Constitution of the United States and the Provisional Government of Missouri. The latter part of the oath they are expected to keep by voting to continue the members of the Provisional continue the members of the Provisional Government in office, and there is little doubt being faithfully observed. art of the oath is not expected to be kept, as the rule is to make a rebel swear every time he is caught—and then let him go. Ah! your voice could never do pas Down through those slender bars; If you ever had loved a soldier lad, And he was all the friend you had, And was gone away to the wars. You are quiet now! too quiet, my bird,

Yet low, sing low, while he is gone
To fight for the stripes and stars;
I would not hear your voice ring out,
Till it blends itself with the nation's shout,
When my lover comes from the wars.

You must sing for us both in that blessed day When I welcome my soldier boy; For my eyes will be dim with the happy tear, And my heart will come to my lip so near, That I cannot speak for joy!

Exercise .- "Strength is health," has beome a favorite phrase. But, like many com-non saws, it is an error. Visit the first halfozen circuses that may come to town, and ask the managers whether the cannon ball lifter or the general performer has the better health. You will find in every case it is the latter. Ask the doctors whether the cart-men, who are the strongest men in the city, have better health than other classes, who like them, work in the open air, but with light and varied labor. You will not find that the measure of strength is the measure of health. Flexibility has far more to do with it.—[Dr.

At the Shire Hall, Nottingham, on Wednesday, says the London Times of the 27th ult., a singular case of bigamy was heard before Lord Belper and other magistrates. The prisoner, whose name is John Goddard, was brought up by the union authorities, a few weeks ago, on a charge of neglecting to maintain his wife. He pleaded that he was not her lawful husband, being a married man at the time he was married to her, and therefore not liable for her maintenance. The case was then adjourned, in order that evidence in proof of the detendant's statement might be called. The woman whom he was charged with neglecting to maintain swore that she was married to the detendant in 1833; whilst a witness was called who deposed to being present at a former marriage in 1829. The Lower Potomac is not thoroughly felcared of rebels. Thirty or forty mounted men were seen opposite Maryland Point yesterday, and there is information leading to the belief that the captors of the Satellite and Reliance are in Cone river, with their boats, awaiting an opportunity to capture the guard boat at Pine Point.

They state that for some time past four or five trains per day have been running troops through Richmond South. The day they took their departure the city was illuminated with camp fires and crowded with troops, all, doubtless being hurried towards Charleston.

The fortifications of Petersburg, they state, are quite formidable. They passed three lines of troops, and were not interfered with.

THE GOLD HEADED CAME OF AN F. F. V.-A Relic.—Mr. H. F. Johns, proprietor of a hotel in Washington, has shown us a suggestive relic of the days just before the rebellion in the shape of a gold-headed cane, bearing the superscription, "Ex-President John Tyler to his son, General John Tyler, 1856." Mr. Johns came into possession of this cane in rather peculiar circumstances. General John Tyler stopped at his hotel in 1860, and after he had been there a week, constantly drunk, Mr. Johns presented his bill, amounting to about sixty dollars. True to the principles of the F. F. V.'s, General Tyler scorned to pay any attention to such base pecuniary dem and Mr. Johns forthwith proceeded to and Mr. Johns forthwith proceeded to eject him from his establishment, making use of such applications as the emergency demanded. As General Tyler reached the lowest step of the hotel, he valisatly turned, and raising the identical cane in question, which he said his father had presented to him for killing one—Yankee, he threatened to thrash Mr. Johns. By a skillful flunk movement, the beiligerent General was laid sprawling upon the pavement, and his cane was transferred to Mr. Johns' possession, where it has since remained. During the session of the Peace Convention in Washington, Mr. Johns called upon Ex-President Tyler, who was one of the delegates, and stating the circumstances, offered to give up the cane if the bill was said. offered to give up the cane if the bill was paid. Friday night ice, the first this fall, was made. All the tobacco that has not been cut is destroyed. The subject of fuel is naturally connected with these remarks. The quantity of coal in this city is not large, and at the exhorbitant prices demanded, it is entirely out of the reach of the poor. The wood choppers, taking advantage of the necessities of the people, have advanced the price of wood, and that article is now commanding fabulous prices. If the high prices now demanded for fuel should continue, many a family will be without the means of keeping warm of the cold bleak winter J. nights. Cannot our citizens adopt some plan whereby the price of fuel can be lowered ?

While there they were This would seem to indicate that Hall, who became somewhat intoxicated, and, mounting a horse, drilled with the men. He had a knife, used for cutting corn, which he swung round his head, but without making lemonstrations against any one. About this time a young man belonging to the cavalry, from Leavenworth, named Todd, remarked to Thomas Braxton that if Hall fooled with him, he (Todd) would fix him. Subsequently while both Hall and Todd were on horseback, Todd fired five times at Hall, three shots taking effect on his person and two on his horse, killing Hall instantly. Lieutenant Williams at once ordered Todd's arrest, and FINANCE AND TRADE impress five hundred he is now confined in the Paoli jail. The river at this point was swelling quite fast, and during the twenty-four hours ending last evening, it at the head of the falls had swollen fully six inches, which is equal to a rise of eighteen nches at Portland. The weather is very cold. Our noon dispatches from Cincinnati state that he river at that point is falling, with three and a half feet water in the channel hence to this place. At Pitisburg at last accounts, the river was staonary, but as there has been heavy rains in the nountains, wee look for a rise from there that will allow the coal to come out.

Departures—J. H. Dickey, St. Louis; Belle Memphis, St. Louis; Effie Deans Vicksburg.
About half-past five o'clock Sunday evening the side-wheel steamer W. L. Ewing, Captain Hight, while ranning in the channel at full head of steam, opposite Plumb Point, eight miles above Fort Pillow, and one mile below the wreck of the Eugene, struck something—what, neither the pilots ner other officers could ascertain—and immediately commenced settling, the water pouring into her hold.

As soon as the extent of the injuries was ascertained, the boat was headed for the Arkansashore. She soon struck a bar and settled in five shore. She soon struck a bar and section in the feet water.

The excitement occasioned by the occurrence can be much more easily imagined than described. Passengers, officers, and crew, comprised nearly one hundred persons, and although it was daylight, and no doubt existed of the boat being successfully lodged either against the shore or on a ba, not a few on board were dreadfully frightened.

The Lion Going to War.

The lion had an enterprise in hand,
Held a war council, sent his Provost Marshal,
And gave the animals a call impartial—
Each in his way to serve his high command.
The elephant should carry on his back
The tools of war, the mighty public pack,
And fight in elephantine way and form;
The bear should hold himself prepared to storm;
The fox all stratagems should fix;
The monkey should amuse the foe by tricks.
Dismiss, said one, the blockhead asses;
And hares, too cowardly and fleet.
No, said the King; I use all classes;
Without their aid my force were incomplete—
The ass shall be our trumpeter to scare
Our county. And then the nimble hare
Our royal bulletins shall homeward bear.
A monarch provident and wise

A monarch provident and wise
Will hold his subjects all of consequence,
And know in each what talent lies.
There's nothing useless to a man of sense.

CONCERNING LARGE ARMIES. The following faces, pulled from the fields of ancient story, may be of some interest at the present time: The city of Thebes had a hundred gates and could send out at each gate 10,000 fighting men and 200 chariots. The army of Terah, King of Ethiopia consisted of 1,000,000 men, and 300 chariots. Sesostris, King of Egypt, led against his enemies 600,000 men, 24,000 cavalry, and twinty-seven scythe-armed chariots, 1491, Hamiltar went from Carthage and landed at Palermo. He had a fleet of 2,000 ships, and 3,000 small vesels; and a land force of 300,000 men. At the battle in which he was defeated 150,000 were killed. A Roman fleet, led by Regulus against Carthage, consisted of 330 vessels, with 140,000 men. The Carthaginian fleet numbered 330 vessels, with 150,000 men. At the battle of Cannæ there were of the Romans, including allies, 80,000 foot and 6,000 horse; of the Carthaginians 40,000 foot and 10,000 horse. Of these, 70,000 were slain in all and 10,000 taken prisoners. Hannibal, during his campaign in Italy and Spain, plundered 400 towns and destroyed 3,000,000 men. Ninus, the Assyrian King, about 1200 years B. C., led against the Bactrians his army consisting of 1,500,000 foot, 200,000 horse, and 16,000 chariots armed with

Italy, a little before Hannibal's time. was able to send into the field 1,000,000 Sennacherib lost in a single night, 185,-

000 men by the destroying angel-Kings xix. 35-37. Semiramas employed 2,000,000 men, in building the mighty Babylon. She took 100,000 Indian prisoners at the Indus and 1.000 boats. A short time after the takeing of Babylon, the forces of Cyrus consisted of 600,000 foot, 120,000 horse and 2,000 chariots armed with scythes.

An army of Cambyses, 50,000 strong, was buried up in the desert sand of Africa by a south wind. When Xerxes arrived at Thermoplæ his land and sea force amounted to 2,641,610, exclusive of servants, eunuchs, women, sutlers, &c., in all numbering 5,483,320. So say Heroditus, Plutach, and Isocrates. The army of Artaxerxes, before the battle of Cunaxa, amounted to about 1,000,000 men.

Ten thousand horses and 100,000 footmen fell on the fatal field of Issus. When Jerusalem was taken by Titus, 1,100,000 perished in various ways.

The force of Darius at Arbela numbered over 1,000,000. The Persians lost 90,000 men in this battle; Alexander about 500,-000. So says Diodorus. Arian says the Persians in this battle lost 300,000; the Greeks 1,200,000.

The army of Tamerlane is said to have amounted to 1,600,000 and that of his antagonist, Bajazet, to 1,400,000.

AN UNEXPECTED MARRIAGE.

Old Governor Salsonstall, of Connecticut, who flourished about a half century ago was a man of some humor as well as perseverence, in effecting the ends desired .- Amons other anecdotes told of him by the ew London people, the place waere sided, is the following:

Of the various sects that have flourished for a day, and then ceased to exist, was one known as the Rogerites, so called from their founder, a Tom or John, or some other Rog-The distinguishing tenet of the sect was the denial of the propriety of the form of the marriage tie. They believed that it was not good for a man to be alone; and also that one wife only should cleave to her husband, but then this should be a matter of agreement merely, and the couple should come together, and live as man and wife. dispensing with all forms of marriage covenant. The old Governor used often to visit Rogers, and talk the subject over with him, and seek to convince him of the impropriety of living with Sarah as he did. But neither John nor Sarah would give up the argument. It was a matter of conscience with them; they were very happy as they were-of what use could a mere form be—suppose they did thereby invite scandal—were they not ound to take up the cross, and live according to the rules they professed? The Gover-nor's logic was powerless to convince them. "Now, John," said the Governor, after a debate of the point, "why will you not marry Sarah? Have you not taken her to be your lawful wife?' "Yes, certainly," replied John; "but my conscience will not permit me to marry her in the forms of the world's people." "Very well. But you love her?"

"Yes. "And respect her?" "Yes."

"And cherish her as the bone of your bone, and flesh of your flesh ?"

"Yes, certainly I do." "And will?"

Then turning to Sarah, the Governor said:

"And you love and obey him?" " And respect and cherish him?"

" Certainly I do." " And will ?" "Yes."

"Then," said the Governor rising, "in the name of the laws of God and of the Commonwealth of Connecticut, I pronounce you man and wife." The rage of John and Sarah was of no avail. The knot was tied by the highest authority of the State.

Groundless Fear of a Draught. Many persons indulge in a very silly dread of a draught. It is only by motion in the at-mosphere that our lungs obtain the purest air. If at night the air move briskly directly over your bed, your lungs will receive precious supplies. If you cannot endure this direct draught, you must deny yourself a great I once thought that a draft at night, directly over my head, was a thing to be avoided. Now I seek it as one of the real blessings of life. My wife, who inherited a consumptive interest of the real blessings of the real blessings of life. taint, was ever guarding against night sir. Now she sleeps with two open windows at one end of the bed, and an open door at the other. Neither of us have had a cold for several years.

Every one must exercise his own judgment and prudence. I should be sorry were my words to lead any one into an injurious my words to lead any one into an injurious exposure. Bat among the many hundreds—I might say thousands—whom I have advised to sleep with open windows, I have never known a single person to be seriously injured, even temporarily; and I may add, that almost without exception, so far as I have known, they would not return to their former habit of they would not return to their former habit of sleeping in unventilated rooms.

At first you may contract a cold, but if you bathe freely in cold water, and employ vigorous friction upon the parts exposed while in bed, even this may be avoided. But after a few weeks' experience it will be quite unnecessary for the physiologist to lecture you on the subject. You will yourself take to exhorting your friends upon the importance of well-ventilated bed-rooms. One of the compensations of our great war will be found in the conviction, among a million of returned soldiers, that night air is not a poisson, and that draughts are less dangerous than minie that draughts are less dangerous than minie of course I am not unaware that what I have said on sleeping in a draught will meet with very general reprobation, but it is not the only case in which false education and prejudice have never met one person who has tried such exposure for one month and spoke against it.
